Comment:

Do not weaken or remove Title 2 oversight for Internet protections. Anything less is contrary to what public comment demanded previously. The open and freely available internet is the common denominator and what all US Citizens expect and demand.

Internet Service Providers admit Title 2 provisions do not in any way affect the way they invest. There is not reason to remove these protections from the consumer. Trusting the ISP profit motivated industry that is doing quite well to 'promise' not to ever remove consumer access is stupid. It's never worked to date.

I might remind Mr. Pai he now works for the American People and not Verizon.

Hands off my Internet!
